

Miss McQuillan - French Leader

French is the subject I am passionate about as it provides children the opportunity to become well-rounded, global citizens. Through language learning, the children are able to gain a further understanding of the world around them, further than that of their locality and to use this to support them to become valued members of society. French also provides invaluable lessons about different cultures and teaches children to accept differences and to not discriminate against others. Through P4C we are able to make meaningful links between different cultures and British Values. Having taught in different countries, I am able to share my own experiences with both the children and staff and also make links with schools around the world to make our language curriculum exciting and engaging for all children. It is wonderful to see the children growing in confidence, develop a love of language and gaining cultural capital as they explore, dream and discover the world around them.
